The shock was distinctly felt all over this city. Reports are coming from every direction from as far north as Janesville, Wis., and from the south as far as Arkansas. Many people were badly frightened here. Windows were shaken and house furniture rattled in many instances.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 31.—Two distinct earthquake shocks were felt here this morning about 5.20 o'clock. Houses along the river front were very severely shaken.

Many rushed out of their rattling homes in their night clothes. Many windows were broken and much pottery has been broken.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 31.—A very distinct earthquake shock was felt in this city about 5.10 a. m. today. No damage was done.

Chimneys were tumbled down, glassware and windows broken, and houses swayed as if they were about to fall. For a full minute the city was terrified by the sickening rocking of the earth. It was the worst in the city's experience.

ARE THEY FIGHTING?

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 31.—A special has just been received here from Hot Springs saying the fight is on.

Corbett it was known was at Hot Springs this morning without a sheriff or deputy around him and ready.

Fitzsimmons had also sworn to be there today if the sun rose.

Corbett announced from a platform today that he had done his share and put in his claim for the forfeit money. Was it a bluff to fool the officers?

It is known Fitzsimmons had offer of a special train to Hot Springs from Texas border and protection guaranteed. It cannot be learned at this hour here whether the fight is surely on or not.

ANOTHER FULLER RALLY.

LEE CITIZENS LAST NIGHT TENDERED MR. FULLER A HEARTY RECEPTION.

The North Adams Rally Echoes Are Taken Up in Southern Berkshire for the Next Sheriff.

The enthusiasm aroused in this town by the great Fuller rally Tuesday evening has spread well all over the county and last night broke out at Lee. Mr. Fuller was given a fine reception in that town last night by the citizens. Memorial hall was used. A fine musical program was rendered and coffee, sandwiches and cigars were served. A drum corps outside rendered stirring music and the people of the place were thoroughly waked up. Several hundred people were in the hall at one time, and kept going and coming during the whole evening. There was no speechmaking but there was plenty of handshaking. A large number of Democrats as well as almost all the Republicans in the place crowded in to shake hands with Mr. Fuller and F. R. Shaw. They came from surrounding towns.

—The rear wheels and trucks of the engine which brought the 10 o'clock train from the east this morning were coated with ice as the train drew into the depot this morning.

—Division 10, A. O. H., will give a whist party in the rooms on Eagle street this evening. Fifteen tables will be arranged and refreshments will be served during the evening.

The Human Heart.

The human heart is like a ship
Which rides the waves above—
It speeds on its tempestuous trip
Unto the port of love;
It sails upon the sea of life,
With grief and joy as freight;
It breasts the gales of tears and strife;
Its guiding star is fate.

Imagination is its sail,
And honor is its mast.
Ah, woe, if in the driving gale
It falls before the blast!
Its rudder is a chastened soul,
Which fair religion guides,
And hope is the magnetic pole
Toward which the needle rides.

Faith is the pilot, stanch and true,
Who knows each rock and shoal;
Its aspirations are the crew
Which man it to its goal.
Sail on, O little craft, sail on!
May God with thee abide!
The land of love at length will dawn
In spite of storm or tide.

—Milton Goldsmith.

In a Marsh Land Churchyard.

Here where the dead men dream of life
Under the grass and clover
White birds come from the sea storm's strife,
Circling the marsh land over.

Faintly over, though winds blow free,
Echoes the surge's thunder,
Here where the dead men, home from sea,
Hark with a dreamy wonder.

Tired of tempest and racing wind,
Tired of the spouting breaker,
Here they come at the end to find
Rest in the silent acre.

Shore seems better when seas run high,
Moaning in weary fashion;
Sea seems better when life's awry,
Swept by the storms of passion.

Feet pass over the churchyard turf,
Up from the sea or downward,
One way leads to the raging surf,
One to the perils townward.

"Hearken, hearken!" the dead men call.
"Whose is the step that passes?
Knows he not we are safe from all
Under the nodding grasses?"

—Pall Mall Budget.

Two Lives.

A rose and a thorn together grew,
And one was fair, the other vain,
Yet both were kissed by the summer sun,
And both by the freshening rain.

And two men's lives together grew:
The one was gentle, the other vain,
And one was blessed by the glorious sun;
The other had naught but rain.

—Albert Hardy.

I say that the real and permanent grandeur of these states must be their religion.
Otherwise there is no real and permanent grandeur
(Nor character nor life worthy the name without religion, Nor land nor man nor woman without religion).

—Walt Whitman.

AUTOMATIC STOKER.

A Rare Machine for Mechanically Feeding Coal to Boilers.

WINDSOR PRINT WORKS TESTING IT.

Four Boilers Will be Fitted With It and If Satisfactory the Whole Steam Plant Will be Fitted. Greater Efficiency. No Smoke.

One of the greatest problems confronting engineers is the proper consumption of coal under boilers in the generation of steam for motive power so as to attain the greatest amount of energy from a given quantity of coal. Numerous methods are in operation for this purpose besides the common grate. One of these was described in the TRANSCRIPT some months ago. It was a down-draft furnace with water grate and was fitted to the boilers of the Arnold Print works. This furnace has two fire beds. Coal is fed on to one and when partially consumed falls to the second one and is there fully burned. The amount of ashes left is small and the gases, that are almost wholly wasted in a common grate, pass from the upper bed of this furnace, where they are given off, to the lower and are there almost wholly consumed by the bright red fire. It is claimed by the grate manufacturers that 90 per cent of the waste that generally goes up smoke stacks and out into ash piles is saved by this grate. The bars of the grate are hollow and water circulates in them and is rapidly converted to steam.

The latest plan of economizing coal and increasing the efficiency of a steam plant is being tested at the present time at the Windsor Print works. The machine is the Wilkinson automatic stoker, manufactured by the Wilkinson Manufacturing company of Bridgeport, Pa. Four of the twenty large boilers that make up the Windsor Print works steam plant are being fitted with this machine and if the test proves satisfactory to the company the whole plant will be likewise fitted and the Windsor company will have the first automatic steam installation in these parts. John J. Brady is superintending the work and watching the tests on behalf of the Wilkinson company and says the test so far has been entirely satisfactory to him and cannot fail of being satisfactory to the Windsor people.

The Wilkinson stoker is a combination of furnace and coal-feeding device. The furnace is of unusual pattern. There are no fire doors to allow of cold air rushing in and reducing the temperature of the fire. The grate bed is very long and stands inclining down from where the coal is introduced upon it. It makes considerable of an angle with the boiler level. The peculiarity of the grate is that its bars are as close to each other as planed surfaces can be when in contact and that they are kept in a to and fro motion all the time. This motion is almost imperceptible and does away with raking the fire. At the top of the bars is the hopper, from which the coal is fed. Below and near the top of them is the forced-draft apparatus, and with this the steam pressure and furnace temperature is not dependent on chimney draft, in fact, it is held a high chimney is a very dispensable article when the grate is in use The power for operating the stoker is obtained from an independent engine and the operation is very simple. All there is to be done is to keep the feed roller in the bottom of the hopper revolving so that it regulates the amount of coal delivered by it to the grate. The grate bars have to be kept in motion and there are other minor movements which are simple and require little power. One-quarter-horse power will operate a stoker for a 100-horse boiler.

The plan of burning the coal is without complication. When it is dropped on the grate and lighted it moves slowly by the grate motion and the incline on which it lies and by the time the lower end of the bars is reached there is nothing left but a small residue of ash. This ash falls into a receiver and can be taken away by an attendant or removed by the machine. The grate burns the gases, the makers claim, as well as other grates for which sweeping claims are made. The amount of coal fed and the strength of the draft are regulated by the steam pressure on the boilers.

Very gratifying tests have been made in many places. From these, it is claimed that this grate will increase the efficiency of a steam plant thirty to forty per cent. More coal is consumed when the stoker is in use and a higher per cent. of energy is obtained from it. The stoker economizes in the greater efficiency of the plant, in the better combustion of the coal and in the reduction of labor.

TRUE SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY

A Party in Columbus on Their Way to Atlanta.

The Columbus, Ga., Sunday Herald of October 27, contained the following:

"A party of fifty-six members of The New England Manufacturers' association, including ten ladies, arrived in the city yesterday morning, headed by Vice President Kent and escorted by President Gordon of the Board of Trade and other members of the local committee. The party were met at the depot by carriages and driven to the Rankin house, where liquid refreshments were served, afterwhich they reentered the carriages and made a tour of the mills and other places of attraction about the city, under the guidance of a number of prominent citizens. Late in the afternoon the party left the city by special train, expressing themselves pleased beyond measure with their visit to Columbus."

The Herald gives a list of the entire party and among the names appear those of Z. D. Hall and wife of Adams and R. R. Kelly of Williamstown.

—The annual inspection of the Women's Relief corps will be held November 13. Assistant Department Inspector Mrs. Luella Meekins of Shelburne Falls will inspect the corps.

—The Ladies' Catholic Benevolent society will hold a dance and social in Columbia hall this evening. Excellent music and fine refreshments will undoubtedly crowd the hall.

A PLEASANT OCCASION.

First Annual Supper of the Workers of St. John's Parish.

The first annual supper of the workers of St. John's parish was held at the parish house last evening and was a very pleasant and profitable occasion. There was a large attendance and an excellent supper was served by the ladies. After supper remarks were made by representatives of the different organizations. W. A. Gallup spoke for the vestry, Mrs. John Emmott for the Ladies' Sewing society, Mrs. John C. Tebbetts for the Girls' Friendly society, George Hopkins for the Sunday school, W. E. Benner for the men's branch of St. Andrew's Brotherhood and W. A. Whitaker for the boys' branch, Miss Susie Elmore for the Altar society, H. A. Gallup for the ushers' committee, Joseph K. Smith for the choir, A. Brown and F. W. Reed for the Social club. The remarks of all the speakers were full of interest and encouragement and the meeting was very enthusiastic and enjoyable. This annual supper will hereafter take the place of the annual meeting of St. John's Guild. A quantity of that which had been provided for the tables was unused, and was sent to the lodging house on Marshall street.

Rand-Vincent.

A very pleasant event occurred in the Blackinton block last evening in the marriage of Miss Mary E. Rand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rand, and Levi H. Vincent of Ashfield. The rooms had been tastefully decorated with evergreen, pine boughs, palms and autumn leaves. The decorating was done by the members of the Women's Tens of the Baptist church, of which society Miss Rand has been the secretary for the past three years. The house was crowded with relatives and friends at 8.30 o'clock when the ceremony was performed by Rev. F. D. Penney.

The ceremony took place under an arch of evergreens and autumn leaves from the center of which a bell of the same materials was suspended. After those present had extended their congratulations a collation was served and festivity continued until midnight, at which time the bride and groom left for Boston for a two weeks' stay. On their return they will reside for a while at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Carrie Rand, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and John W. Rand of Troy, N. Y., a brother, was best man.

Among the many presents received were a dinner set from the Woman's Tens, a beautiful parlor lamp with a brass and onyx stand from girls in the stitching room at Sampson's shoe factory, where the bride was timekeeper, and an upholstered chair from the members of the Tens of which she is a leader. A chair came from her Sunday school class at the Baptist church.

Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Mason Vincent of New Ashford; Clark Rand, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sherman, of Williamstown; Alonzo Rand of Pownal, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reed of Greenfield; Mrs. William Secor of Cohoes, N. Y; Mrs. C. A. Sharp of Williamstown; Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Laura Cutler, Miss Cutler and William Camp of Bennington, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holden and Master Eugene Holden of New Ashford.

The groom is well and favorably known in town and the bride has a large number of friends. She has been active in the woman's work in the Baptist church for several years.

Helen A. Bowes.

Helen A. Bowes died at her home on the corner of Jackson and Prospect streets last night from consumption. She was 28 years of age and had been seriously ill for six or seven weeks. Prior to this illness her health had not been very good for some time. She was a well known young woman and a valuable and much respected member of St. Francis parish. In her suffering she showed surprising resignation arising from the gladdening hopes of her faith. She was earnestly christian and there are many who deeply regret that so rich and promising a life has been cut short at the beginning of its fulness. A mother, five brothers and two sisters are the survivors of the family. The brothers are Patrick W., James A., Frank H. and John T. Bowes of this town and Thomas P. Bowes of Fair Haven, Vt. The sisters are Sarah and Margaret Bowes. Margaret Bowes is of Springfield.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from St. Francis church at 10 o'clock.

Ex-Senator Dawes Gets $30 a Day.

Judge Holmes, in the supreme judicial court at Boston yesterday, allowed a motion made by the parties in the case of the American Loan and Trust company of Boston against the Northwestern Guaranty Loan company of Minneapolis, for authority to pay to exSenator Dawes, who acted as master in the case, compensation at the rate of $30 a day for thirty days, instead of the customary $15 a day, which, under the statute, is allowed, and paid out of the county treasury. The lawyers in the case said that it was appreciated that Senator Dawes was worth more than $15 a day, and he had, before taking the case, been promised $30. They agreed as to the value of the services of Mr. Dawes, but hesitated because of a doubt as to the advisability of doing what might be establishing a precedent in such cases, and because it was questioned whether the court could properly allow more than the $15. After some discussion the court allowed the motion.

Harry Ernest Dick.

Harry Ernest Dick, aged seventeen years, died at the hospital yesterday after a week's illness from spinal meningetis. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dick of 34 Bracewell avenue, and was born in Manchester, England. He was a popular young man with bright prospects and his sudden death is a very sad blow to his family, who have the sympaty of a large number. The funeral will be held in St. John's church tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock and after the service the remains will be taken to the parish house where a guard will be kept during the night. The body will be taken to Lawrence, the former home, Saturday morning at 5 o'clock.

—The specimen ballots have been placed in the postoffice and in the city hall for the inspection and instruction of voters.

—All interested in the Mission lodging house are requested to contribute old clothes, shoes, etc., which will not be given away, but sold to the lodgers and wayfares in return for labor. It is also hoped that the wood yard connected with the lodging house will be patronized by those who are willing to help the good work along. The wood yard is not yet in running order, but will be in a short time.

BULLET IN HIS LEG.

Mr. Cross Got Shot Near the Village of Whitingham. A Row.

Dennis Cross came from near Whitingham last night to Dr. Stafford's office to have one of his legs attended to. The doctor was not at home and Dr. Carr took charge of the case. Mr. Cross had been shot in the leg and the bullet is still in the limb. It seems a row happened near Whitingham a few nights ago in which pistols were used and somehow Mr. Cross got a twenty-two calibre bullet in his leg. There is nothing dangerous about the wound unless the probability of blood poisoning. The bullet will be removed as soon as possible.

AMUSEMENTS.

Arthur C. Sidman, the well known comedian, will be again seen in this city next Friday at the Columbia, in his greatest success, "A Summer Shower," which is a greatly improved version of "Squire Haskins," which is so pleasantly remembered by our theatre-goers. His company this season contains such well known people as Joseph E. Gordon, Harry Crosby, Bert Howard, Gus Willard, Brooks Sidman, Leona Bland and Minnie Gordon. The old grist mill in operation is one of the most striking scenes ever presented on the stage, and was produced by Ball & King, the well known scenic artists of Buffalo. The shower of real water in the last act is one of the many realistic features of this great production. The specialties introduced are of the highest class, and the performance in its entirety is excellent. Watch for "Squire Haskins" on the street on the day of the performance.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Two co incident events have been prominently reported in the newspapers within the past two days. One was the story of an Ohio mob's atttempt to lynch a murderous prisoner at Tiffin, and how that mob failed in its criminal attempt before the rifles of a state militia company,—two of the frenzied crowd dying on the spot. The other incident attracting much newspaper attention was that of a negro's being burned to death Tuesday, slowly and in awful torture, in a Texas town, the miserable victim having committed the double crime of murder and rape.

In the Ohio case the officers of the law made stern and earnest resistance to the men who would lynch their prisoner, and public opinion supported these officers. In Texas a crowd of thousands kept gathering for hours to witness the awful scene to be enacted, the officers' resistance to the mob being ineffectual and half-hearted, and the gathered crowd, maddened and brutalized by its thirst for blood, watched the inhuman negro as he was slowly fried to death.

One event happened in the North, the other in the South. They illustrate a radical difference between the two sections, to which it is folly to blind one's eyes. The South has not yet learned the lesson of law and order. Law is yet secondary to personal impulse. The South will yet have to learn, perhaps through long years of bitter and cruel experience, that the trampling down and defying of law only breeds brutality and lawlessness that brings its own punishment. The South will yet learn that, whether it be an election law or a criminal law which is violated, only violence and evil can breed from the course its people seem to persist in pursuing, and every case of public brutality and lynching permitted retards the moral, social and financial development of its people. Let the South learn the lesson of respect for law from the bullet-riddled mob in Ohio. Then may Texas hope to have a standing in decency and law-abiding population equal to that of her Northern sister, and not till then.

COMPLIMENTS FOR OUR CANDIDATE.

[From Today's Springfield Union.]

That magnificent tribute to the popularity and worth of Charles W. Fuller at North Adams Tuesday evening, is only the shadow which is being cast before the splendid victory which next Tuesday seems sure to show. With Democrats and Republicans turning out together with a common purpose in view, and that purpose to make Charles W. Fuller sheriff, it certainly looks hopeful for the popular Tunnel City man. He deserves this endorsement in Northern Berkshire and Southern and Central Berkshire should do likewise. It is time the Republicans came out in their might and placed a man in the best and truest sense of the word in the highest office in Berkshire county and this man who will fill the bill is Charles W. Fuller.

North Adams will have a representative team which will be among the best in George H. Kearn and Clinton Q. Richmond. The former has served in the house and so "knows the ropes" on Beacon hill and will be a valuable man for his district. Mr. Richmond is a man of business ability and sound common sense and will be a good working member of the house, honorable, intelligent and faithful. The Republicans of North Adams and the First Berkshire district should not miss the opportunity to send two such men to represent their interests in the first year of the Tunnel City's enrollment in the list of Massachusetts cities.

There is no better man in the field for public office this fall than Judge Lawrence, the popular senator from Berkshire. With his experience on the bench, and in the senate he can go back and give his district spendid service and western Massachusetts hopes, be president of the senate.

The horseless carriage is near home A. H. Overman, the bicycle maker of Chicopee Falls says he will have a horseless carriage ready for trial Dec. 1. He is thoroughly convinced, he says, that the motor carriage will be of inestimable value, both in convenience and actual saving. The time will come, he says, when a motor carriage will be within the reach of a great many people. As soon as the manufacture is begun, the price must drop, and he would not be surprised to see in a short time a well equipped motor carriage, able to carry two people, selling for $250. Mr. Overman's machine is now being made at his bicycle factory at Chicopee Falls. He says that he is neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, and therefore cannot tell accurately just what the machine will be able to accomplish, but is sanguine in the belief that it will be the best thing in the line of a horseless carriage ever turned out. The motive power will be furnished by gasoline engines.

The Republican candidate for special county commissioner, T. W. Richmond, is a man who deserves a large vote in his re-election. We look to see him poll more than the full party vote in Northern Berkshire, because of the favor in which he stands with his fellow citizens hereabouts. He has performed the duties of his office well in the past and deserves a large majority next Tuesday. The Springfield Republican has paid Mr Richmond the following deserved compliment: "T. W. Richmond of North Adams, who has been nominated by the republicans for special county commissioner, is a popular and energetic merchant, having the confidence and full support of his party. As selectman of his town and the incumbent of various other offices, he has always rendered faithful services, which are not forgotten, but rather treasured up awaiting opportunity for appreciative expression. The expression will come in the large vote North Adams will give him." Sunday Republican, Springfield, Oct. 20, 1894.

On the day North Adams gave Mr. Fuller a rousing citizens' ovation, every Republican and many Democrats of the town joining in the occasion, Mr. Crosby was telegraphing around the county in hot haste for members of the Democratic county committee to come to Pittsfield and "fix" up a row in the Crosby camp. The Crosby forces are on the run. Now the thing for Mr. Fuller's friends to do is to chase them.

Not in a braggadocio spirit but as a fact, we want to say to every friend of Charles W. Fuller that that gentleman's chances of election today are almost certain. The indications from Great Barrington, Lee, Dalton, Pittsfield and Adams are of the most encouraging nature. Mr. Crosby and his forces are discouraged and demoralized. All hands to work for Fuller, and he will have over 500 majority in the county.

Senator Lawrence continues to wear a contented and happy expression on his countenance, for he is simply walking into office without the slightest effort. But don't forget to vote for him, for we want to send him to Boston with a rousing majority in order to help him along in his candidacy for the presidency of the senate.—Pittsfield Eagle.

We all agree with the Providence Telegram when it says: "Great Britain says she was in America before the United States were. That may be, but she won't be here after the United States has gone. That we can tell her."

Halloween tonight. The name implies the eve of All Saints, but in North Adams and everywhere else it will be the evening of all the little michievous devils that lurk in the smallest boy's breast.

Let every Republican remember that work done this year is preparing for next year's great political struggle. Take good care of next Tuesday's election, and next year's work is made easy.

The Board of Trade tomorrow night discusses a subject every man in town should feel an interest in—the character of our new city's officers.

The Crosby family's motto: "We want everything in Berkshire, from Congress to the last complimentary deputy sheriff—that's all."

THE EDITOR'S SHEARS.

FOR TODAY.

AUTUMN.

There's something in the burnin'
Of the sun as he goes down,
That's hintin' of the turnin'
Of the leaves to gold an' brown.

The air is gettin' clearer
On the valley an' the plain,
For the winter's drawin' nearer
With its gray skies an' its rain

The days are feelin' softer,
An' the nights are growin' chill;
An' the wind is makin' music
Down the valley an' the hill.

Oh, the mellow, yellow autumn!
It is glorious on the way,
An' the sweet days seem a mixture
Of the summer an' the May.

An' the world is sweetly dreamin'
Where the dreams are brightest, best,
An' her mountains an' her meadows
Sing a song o' peace an' rest!

—Atlanta Constitution.

Sun's a settin' as of old;
Same old purple; same old gold;
Same old glory in the leaves;
Same old harvest in the sheaves;
Frost that make the fruit jes' prime
Comin' round on schedule time;
Same old autumn loveliness—
Country's purty safe, I guess.

Same old smiles and same old tears
Shifting with the fleeting years;
Games our grandsires loved to play
Please the youngsters of today;
Still ambition's hot desire
Rages; yet with all its fire
Pity hastens to distress—
Country's purty safe, I guess.

—The Father Mathew social and dance that was to be held tomorrow night has been postponed for a week because it would conflict with the event to be given under the auspices of Lincoln camp for the benefit of the G. A. R. building fund.

—W. F. Orr of the Postal telegraph office has engaged to furnish the election returns to the clubs and hotels, and will supply other parties who desire to arrange for them. The dispatches will be written with a typewriter, which will be a great improvement over manuscript.

—The civil service examinations under the rules of the United States civil service commission of the applicants for the grades of clerks and carriers in the postal service will be held December 7 in the city hall. Applications for the examinations must be made to O. A. Larabee, secretary of the board, before the closing hour November 18.

—This evening will be the evening on which the small boy figures so prominently and a time which every boy believes to have been settled upon for his special enjoyment. The accumulated stock of cabbage stumps, small pumpkins and similar things will be heavily drawn upon before morning dawns again.

—Two dynamos have been received by the Gas company and they will probably be set up this week. These machines are for generating power for the Williamstown branch of the Hoosac Valley street railroad. The Gas company has an abundance of steam power and will have to make no addition in that department.

—The concert and dance to be held at Odd Fellows' hall tonight by the Sons of Veterans will be a very pleasant affair and a large attendance is expected. Clapp's orchestra will take part in the concert and also furnish the dance music. Tickets are only twenty-five cents and the proceeds will go into the Grand Army building fund.

—One of the men who were given lodgings as tramps at the police station last night, when he had given his record to the officer in charge, inquired if the police station stood on the site of an old school house. He was informed that the building in front was on the school house site, and then the man "took the second door to the left in the corridor" to sleep as a tramp over a spot where he once played as a careless school boy.

—The Grand Army campfire tomorrow night will be an enjoyable occasion. It will be held in Gatslick's hall after the close of the Board of Trade meeting and the associate members are cordially invited. Crackers, cheese, coffee and pipes will be served as usual and there will be speaking by regular and associate members. It is hoped there will be a good attendance notwithstanding the fact that the hour for assembling is a little later than usual.

—The last of the fall series of excursions to New York via Citizen's line, from Greenfield and stations on the Fitchburg railroad west of Greenfield, will occur Tuesday, November 12. Besides the many other attractions at the metropilis, the National horse show will be in progress. Tickets will be good going only on train due to leave North Adams at 5 p. m., November 12, and returning leaving New York up to 6 p. m. Monday, November 18, and on Fitchburg railroad to and including Tuesday, November 19. Excursion rate from this town only $2.25.

—All the friends of Charles W. Fuller and Senator Lawrence who are members of the Franco-American club, and that means almost all the members, will meet tonight in the club's rooms in Boland's block and have a political smoke talk. The merits of these candidates will be discussed and their praises sung. Among the music numbers will be a song composed for the occasion by Henry Robinson of the TRANSCRIPT, who composed "Will you all be with us," sung Tuesday night with such gratifying effect at the Fuller rally. The song for tonight is entitled "The Senator and Sheriff."

—A second runaway occurred on State street today about noon. A horse belonging to a foreigner and a stranger ran very swiftly down the street and J. Hogan who was on the sidewalk rushed to stop the animal. He caught it and pulled it about so suddenly that man, animal and wagon got in a heap. The horse rolled over Mr. Hogan. Mr. Hogan extricated himself from the mess and, still hung on to the horse. The animal and wagon were soon righted and it was found little damage was done. Mr. Hogan was bruised and received for his risk the half intelligible thanks of the horse owner, who gathered up his lines and drove quickly away.

—Last night's low temperature drove the tramps under cover. One-half a dozen sought shelter in the police station and were given lodgings as usual. Captain Krum says the police have not been instructed to refuse tramps lodgings and send them to the mission lodging house. It is supposed that such notice should come from the selectmen and whether it will be given cannot be said. Lowell police officials have taken the decision of a similar question upon themselves and refuse tramps lodgings even though there is no place where they can find food and lodgings for their work. The police board of that city holds that the care of tramps belongs to the overseers of the poor.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at Burlingame & Darby's drug store.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondville, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Burlingame & Darby's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00 1

TOWN TALK.

New and Choice Stock.

The stock of goods in Barnes' jewelry store is largely new and is exceedingly varied and choice. It includes a large quantity of cut glass and sterling silverware in colonial styles, also tea sets of colonial patterns. There is a full stock of watches and diamonds for the holiday trade and a full assortment of all kinds of goods included in the jewelry trade. The store never looked more inviting, and goods will be sold on very close margins this year, as Mr. Barnes is determined to move a large quantity between now and January 1 if good goods at low prices will do the business, and it usually does. A little time can be profitably spent in looking through the old, popular and reliable store.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in Our Neighbor Towns.

ADAMS.

Have Withdrawn Their Candidate.

At a meeting of the local Socialists Wednesday evening it was voted to withdraw their candidate for representative, Fred Hodecker. This narrows the struggle to Dr. Thomas Riley and L. J. Fiske of Cheshire. It will be a hard fight between these two men, many believe.

John H. Cook's Funeral.

The funeral of the late John H. Eaton Cook occurred from St. Charles' church at 8.30 o'clock this morning, Rev. Fr. Coyne officiating. The floral offerings were very elegant and the large attendance at the funeral showed the esteem in which Mr. Cook was held. The bearers were M. J. Burke, John Davin, Edward Daniels, James Driscoll, Edward Kelly and Mr. Kelly of Cheshire.

The Hallowe'en Party.

Everybody who attends the concert and party to be given by the Renfrew Caledonian club at their hall at Renfrew this evening are assured of a good time. The concert under Prof. Palmer's direction will be a treat and all Hallowe'en customs will be observed.

The New Side-Track.

Workmen started this morning building the new side-track for the Berkshire mill. It is to run the full length of the mill on Depot street, west of the structure and will be of great convenience to the builders.

Arthur C. Sidman, in a "Summer Shower," will undoubtedly draw a very large house Monday evening. Mr. Sidman has been here twice in "Squire Haskins," and is very popular with playgoers.

W. B. Plunkett is in New York on business.

Another meeting of Company M's ball committee will be held tonight.

The big fire at Millers Falls Wednesday night destroyed the store and stock just left by Paul Mooney, who is to locate here.

J. A. Toggert of Millers Falls, who is going into the gent's furnishing business with Paul Mooney, has arrived in town.

P. J. Moore of Pittsfield was in town today.

J. Byron Richmond has sold a building lot on Forest Park avenue to Lemue Highams for $500.

CHESHIRE.

F. T. Foster is buying apples and shipping them to New Bedford, paying to best stock $1.25 per barrel. He has several hundred barrels bought. Mr. Foster has made it a business for several seasons of buying and shipping farm produce.

Postmaster Flaherty has been excused from jury service to attend the funeral of Mr. Cook of Albany. Mrs. Cook is a cousin of his.

The Rev. E. E. Berker of Pittsfield preached at the Universalist church last evening, taking as his subject, "God is Love."

The cattle commissioners wrote to Mr Bliss yesterday, stating they would test his whole flock of cattle within ten days. The cattle he has had in quarantine were taken out, only to be let run with others of his flock. There will be further procedure from the cattle commissioners as regards this flock of Mr. Bliss', as all last evidence goes to show.

The Sons of Temperance have a most perfectly appointed suite of rooms, that are with the new carpet very attractive Though not a member ourselves we think this society is doing a good work for the town. A reading room is connected to make evenings pleasant for the mal members.

Almost every stranger coming to our village is suspected of being a politician

If any one feels as though there is any great need of reform work in town, there is ample room for him to work. The law does not prevent any one with sufficient evidence from doing something. The style of blaming people for not doing thing they will not do themselves is getting tiresome.

Many of the friends and relatives of the late John H. Cook attended his funeral in Adams today.

There will be several Hallowe'en parties tonight, and while there will be no bobbed shed, Blood will be "in it."

WILLIAMSTOWN.

Senior Class Election.

The class of '96 held a meeting Wednesday afternoon and elected the following officers: President, B. N. Mather, Grattsville, N. Y.; vice-president, C. Parker, South Gransville, N. Y.; secretary, Henry S. Patterson, New York city treasurer, D. M. Yeretsian, Turkey chorangus, D. G. Smith, Washington, D. C. Thomas C. McDowell, Medina, Ohio, Karl E. Weston, Winchendon, Mass., and Walter W. Cooper, Little Falls, N. Y., were chosen as members of the cap and gown committee. The class voted to wear their caps and gowns every Sunday of the spring term.

The football game between Burr and Burton academy and Williams, '99, which was played on Weston field yesterday afternoon was sharply contested and full of critical plays. Although the freshmen eleven was somewhat heavier, the visiting team played a strong game and held them down to a small score. Neither side scored in the first half but shortly after the opening of the second half the home team by constantly bucking the center pushed the ball over their line and scored a touchdown, from which a goal was kicked, making the final score 6—0. Whipple and Fiske played the best game for Burr and Burton and Grannis and Carpenter played a strong game for Williams. Umpire, Street, '96; referee, Rutter, '99; linesman, Smith, '96. The line up was as follows:

Manchester.	Positions.	Williams, '99.
Simmons	re	Rizzly
McWayne	rt	Gillette (captain)

Reaulo	lg	Cowles
Gibbs	lt	Ransom

F. W. Adams, Williams '95, was in town yesterday.

James E. Blakeslee has put in curbing in front of his place on Spring street and the walk will be straightened up.

Miss Mary O'Brien has accepted a position with Mrs. Wardwell.

Harold Sanford, who is attending school in Manchester, Vt., visited at his home in this town Wednesday and witnessed the game between Williams '99 and Manchester.

Mrs. Dr. Parsons who has been visiting friends in Baldwineville, N. Y., has returned home.

At a meeting of the Good Will club Wednesday afternoon the following ladies were chosen on committees: Chairman of executive committee, Mrs. L. D. Woodbridge; chairman hospital committee, Mrs. A. E. Hall; chairman relief committee, Mrs. T. Henry Safford; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Saunders.

BLACKINTON.

Ambrose Schouler is under the care of Dr. Galvin suffering from an attack of the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pincombe are visiting friends in Lawrence and Wickford, R. I.

A number of young people from this village will attend the social given by the Women's Relief corps of Hopkins post, G. A. R., at Williamstown tonight.

The Blackinton company are selling coal to the people of this village for $4.75 per ton. This is one dollar a ton less than is charged in the neighboring towns and is something that should be appreciated by all.

Willis and Miss Lillian Perry of Wyoming, N. Y., are visiting in town, the guests of James H. Reynolds and family. The mother of the young people—who, by the way, are twins—worked here in the mill some years ago and is still remembered by the older inhabitants of the village.

Mrs. O. A. Archer is confined to her home with sickness. She is under the care of Dr. Millard, with Mrs. Edward Bamford of Braytonville as nurse. Mrs. Archer is a lady who has carried sunshine and comfort into many a household in this village in time of trouble, and it is the prayer of the community that her recovery may be speedy and permanent.

PITEZEL'S WIDOW

Faces Holmes and Gives Her Testimony in the Famous Trial.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—The feature of the third day of the Holmes trial was the dramatic and pathetic recital of Mrs. Pitezel, who persistently insisted on the completion of the terrible ordeal of facing the prisoner, whom she charges with the murder of her husband and children, and telling all the details of that series of intrigues which came to such a fatal climax.

Mr. Graham said "When did you last see or hear from your husband?"

In a voice choking with emotion, Mrs Pitezel replied: "I have never seen my husband since July 29, or heard from him in his own handwriting since Aug. 30."

Then Mr Graham, in a solemn voice, asked: 'Have you ever seen any of your three children since you gave them to this man?"

Mrs. Pitezel replied: "I have never seen my little girls except lying side by side in the morgue at Toronto, and I have never seen Howard, but I saw some of his little things in the coroner's office at Indianapolis."

There was more than one moistened eye in the court while the sobbing woman was speaking, and the defense, realizing the probable effect of the incident upon the jury, interposed an objection.

Mr. Graham was so vehement in his indignant reply to the defense's objection that he was rebuked by the court, who, however, sustained his line of questioning

This concluded Mrs Pitezel's direct testimony, which had consumed 2 hours and 40 minutes.

SALISBURY'S MUSINGS.

A Few Words in Regard to the Tariff and Foreign Relations.

LONDON, Oct 31 —The Marquis of Salisbury made a speech at Walford yesterday to an audience which included a number of Conservative members of parliament. During the course of his remarks, the prime minister referred to the agricultural question, and said:

"Since the repeal of the corn laws we have had the strongest cause to lament that, though the protectionists resisted, their warnings had not been listened to more carefully. The repealers laughed at the idea of its injuring husbandry; but a lowering of prices resulted, and free trade has almost killed husbandry in several countries."

The marquis did not blame those who had passed the free trade act, but they should have thought more of the peculiar burden under which the land labored, and should have lightened the weight of these burdens when it could have been done with ease.

Lord Salisbury then adverted to the foreign policy of Great Britain, and in his connection he declared he had carried out the work of his precursors for the sake of maintaining the very important object of a unity of English policy in the face of foreign nations. The speaker protested against Mr. Gladstone's interference in the Armenian affair in a passage of his speech in which he said that he regretted that any man, however earnest and eminent, had thought it worth while to add to the difficulties with which the nations of Europe had to contend in dealing with countries in which bitter differences of race and creed were traditional.

The anti-Semitic victory in Vienna may be annulled by the emperor.

MAJORITY MUST RULE.

A Woman's Common Sense View of Suffrage Question.

Bay State Laws Discriminate in Favor of Women.

Her Gentle Influences Over Man are the Stronghold of the Sex.

If the majority of women are either not desirous to vote or are strongly opposed to voting, the minority should yield in this as they are obliged to do in all other public matters. In fact, they will be obliged to yield, so long as the present state of opinion exists among women in general, for legislators will naturally consult the wishes of the women of their own families and neighborhood, and be governed by them. There can be no doubt that in this state, where women are highly respected and have great influence, the ballot would be readily granted to them by men, if they desired it, or generally approved of woman suffrage. Women are taxed, it is true; so are minors, without the ballot; it is untrue to say that either class is not represented. The thousand ties of relationship and friendship cause the identity of interest between the sexes What is good in a community for men is good also for their wives and sisters, daughters and friends The laws of Massachusetts discriminate much in favor of women, by exempting unmarried women of small estate from taxation; by allowing women, and not men, to acquire a settlement without paying a tax; by compelling husbands to support their wives, but exempting the wife, even when rich, from supporting an indigent husband; by making men liable for debts of wives, and not vice versa In the days of the American Revolution the first cause of complaint was that a whole people were taxed but not represented. Today there is not a single interest of woman which is not shared and defended by men, not a subject in which she takes an intelligent interest in which she cannot exert an influence in the community proportional to her character and ability It is because the men who govern, live, not in a remote country with separate interests, but in the closest relations of family and neighborhood, and bound by the tenderest ties to the other sex, who are fully and well represented by relations, friends and neighbors in every locality.

It is the opinion of many of us that woman's power is greater without the ballot or possibility of office-holding for gain, when, standing outside of politics, she discusses great questions upon their merit. Much has been achieved by women in the anti-slavery cause, the temperance cause, the improvement of public and private charities, the reformation of criminals, all by intelligent discussion and influence upon men. Our legislators have been ready to listen to women, and carry out their plans when well framed. Women can do much useful public service upon boards of education, school committees and public charities, and are beginning to do such work. It is of vital importance to the integrity of our charitable and educational administration that it be kept out of politics. Is it not well that we should have one sex, who have no political ends to serve, who can fill responsible positions of public trust? Voting alone can easily be performed by women without rude contact, but to attain any political power power women must affiliate themselves with men; because women will differ on public questions, must attend primary meetings and caucuses, will inevitably hold public office and strive for it; in short, women must enter the political arena. This result will be repulsive to a large portion of the sex, and would tend to make women unfeminine and combative, which would be a detriment to society.

It is well that men after the urden and heat of the day should return to homes where the quiet side of life is presented to them. In these peaceful New England homes of ours, great and noble men have been raised by wise and pious mothers, who instructed them, not in politics, but in those general principles of justice, integrity and unselfishness, which belong to and will insure statesmanship in the men who are true to them. Here is the stronghold of the sex, weakest in body, powerful for good or evil over the stronger one, whom women sway and govern, not by the ballot and by greater numbers, but by those gentle influences designed by the Creator to soften and subdue man's ruder nature —Clara T Leonard.

Passengers Were Scared.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The passengers on the North German Lloyd steamship Trave, from Bremen, had an experience which they will not soon forget. The ship was rolling helplessly in the trough of the sea on the 25th, when suddenly the engines stopped and the engine room was filled with clouds of steam that penetrated the cabins. The impression that the ship was on fire seized on the passengers, and they became panic-stricken until calmed by Captain Thalenhorst. It was part of the steam-steering gear that had broken.

Now Belong to France.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—The two islands of Huahenie and Bolabola, belonging to the Tahitian group, in the South Pacific, have been annexed to France by consent of the native chiefs. Both form part of the Society islands proper, otherwise the Leeward islands, and have hitherto been considered distinct from the Tahitian or Windward group, which have been under a French protectorate, although nominally governed by Queen Pomare, a native ruler.

Bank Cleaned Out.

MCGREGOR, Tex., Oct. 31.—The First National bank was looted early yesterday morning. Entrance was effected through the door. The thieves opened the outer door by the combination. To the inner steel chest dynamite was applied, completely wrecking the safe. The booty secured amounted to between $10,000 and $12,000 in paper and gold. The bank is fully solvent, and will continue business.

HAS ARRIVED!

DR. SWEET, the World Celebrated Natural Bone Setter, Bone Surgeon and Magnetic Physician at Wilson House,

North Adams, Until Nov. 4th, at Grey Rock House, Adams, from Nov. 4th to Nov. 11th, Affording the Lengthened Treatment Under the Personal Care of This Renowned Specialist. Not Only Lameness But all Types of OBSCURE CHRONIC DISEASES Permanently Cured by the "Famous Sweet Method."

CASE II. Lame and crippled and unable to walk from birth, pronounced not only incurable, but that he could not be helped. The undersigned will kindly answer brief inquiries. Please enclose stamp —

DR. SWEET—Dear Sir: Your "Sweet Method" is truly wonderful. I would advise all who are afflicted to call upon you for help. You know how feeble our child was when he was first brought to you for treatment; he could not walk, could only creep, though 5 years of age; could only recline on the floor when at play; he was afflicted with spinal trouble, infantile paralysis, also a very bad posterior curvature of the spine, giving a dwarfed appearance to his little back and chest. We had ceased to hope for anything better, as he had been treated regardless of expense, but yet of no avail; and now, after being under your treatment, he walks all the time; in fact, can take quite a walk, and runs and plays with other children. You have done wonders for the child. Everyone exclaims at the great change in his looks and actions, and asks what produced such an improvement. I tell them all, Dr. Sweet. We shall be pleased to offer words of encouragement to those similarly afflicted, in as strong language as we can employ. Believe us ever gratefully yours, MR. and MRS. W. F. BULLOCK, Lynn, Sept. 5.

Badly Wrecked.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 31.—A survey was held yesterday on the Norwegian ship Reciprocity ashore near Musquash. The surveyors found the vessel so badly damaged that they recommended her condemnation and immediate sale.

Bourgeois Called On.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—President Faure yesterday summoned M Bourgeois, Republican Radical, to the palace, and requested him to form a ministry. M. Bourgeois promised to consult with his friends and give the president a reply today.

HOW TO TELL PURE FABRICS.

Wool or Silk Containing Mixtures May Be Readily Discovered.

A simple but effective practice is in vogue in Germany for determining, without the aid of a chemist, whether a fabric of silk or wool is free from admixture of cotton fibers, of flax, china grass or other vegetable constituents. A piece of the stuff to be examined, say about three inches square, is, after careful cleaning, plunged into strong sulphuric acid, water being afterward added, and the whole boiled. In about five minutes the fluid is poured into a clean vessel and made strongly alkaline by a saturation with caustic soda; then are added a few drops of dissolved orchil, and the mixture is warmed for several minutes up to a temperature of 180 degrees F. Now, if only 1 per cent of vegetable fiber exists in the fabric, the reddish violet color of the orchil is precipitated, or if this takes place only after heating for five minutes the quantity amounts to less than 1 per cent. It is absolutely necessary, however, that starch should be removed carefully from the stuff to be examined, as the presence of that substance vitiates the result. In testing goods alleged to be silk the result is attained more easily by plunging the sample into hydrochloric acid, the fiber of silk being very soluble in such acid, and if the material contains wool or cotton it remains behind.

How to Clean Mattresses.

Empty the mattresses to be cleaned. See that every particle of the hair filling is picked apart and shaken free of dust. Then, after washing in strong soapsuds and rinsing in lukewarm water, the filling is squeezed as dry as possible and hung up to dry in the sun and air in large bags made of mosquito netting. In the meanwhile the ticking has been washed or a new one substituted, and then with a long, strong needle and twine sew together again.

How to Get Along Without a Corkscrew.

There is a trick of taking off the heads of bottles that is worth knowing. Grasp the beer bottle in the left hand and a knife in the right hand. Lay the bottle on your knee and draw a knife vigorously across the neck of the bottle just back of the rim just as if you were going to saw the head off. If you bear on pretty hard and turn the bottle around gradually until every part of the neck has been under the knife's edge, you will scratch the enamel of the glass. When this is accomplished, lay the knife blade flatwise on the bottle and with the back of the blade strike the bottle rim two or three sharp blows as if you would knock the head off. Presently you will hear it break.

The cork in an ale bottle extends below the break and holds the head on. Put a napkin over the head and draw the cork. Head and all will come off as clean as a whistle.

ROBBED HEN ROOSTS.

Fred Pike Has Relieved Farmers of Thousands of Fowls.

Sold Them to Boston Restaurant Keepers.

People of Wakefield Alone Have Lost $2000 Worth of Hens.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—An alleged hen thief who seems to have been industrious for the past two years in neighboring towns was arrested in this city yesterday by officers of station 3, assisted by Chief of Police Vannah of Wakefield. He was photographed for the rogues' gallery and then taken to Wakefield.

He gave his name as Fred Pike, alias George Gould, 42 years of age, but he refused to reveal where he has been living of late. He claims to have originally come from St. Albans, Vt.

For two years past he has been in the habit, so it is alleged, of making nightly visits to different towns a few miles out of Boston and robbing hen roosts. The following day he has always appeared at the West End of this city, where he has done a thriving business among 30 or more restaurants, who have purchased from him chickens for a price much less than they could the same articles at the market.

But up to the time of his arrest no suspicion was cast upon him, it being the impression among his customers that he was living out of town, who made his source of revenue from that business.

A Well-to-Do Merchant,

He had a bag in his possession when arrested, which contained about 50 keys of various kinds, a glass-cutter and a combination screwdriver, besides some hens' feathers.

The proprietor of a restaurant also identified Pike as the man from whom he had daily purchased chickens for the past two years, and later on the prisoner was identified by many others with whom he had dealings for some time.

In his pocket was found a memorandum book with the names of many of his customers, and further investigation by the officers revealed the fact that for some time he has been plucking feathers from the poultry in a house on Lowell street, giving a woman named Kelly the feathers for the privilege granted him. Mrs. Kelly now has two or three bolsters stuffed with the feathers which she got in this manner.

Investigation shows that for a long time he did the same thing at 43 Leverett street, giving the woman the feathers for the privilege of allowing him to dress the hens and chickens at that place. There the woman saved enough feathers to make a whole feather bed, two pillows and a bolster. To those people he always represented that he had two farms

A Little Way Out of Town.

Chief Vannah of Wakefield says that during the past two years the people of that place alone have had $2000 worth of hens stolen from them, and besides there the farmers of Medford, Malden and Lynnfield have also been robbed to a large extent.

Pike, alias Gould, is supposed to have been the thief in all instances, owing to the facts that have been learned in Boston, where he did a thriving business. When arrested he had about $40 in his pocket.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 31.—A hearing was given the captain of the ship William H. Connor in the United States court yesterday morning on a $12,000 libel against that vessel for failing to display lights at night while on her voyage from Yokohama to this port. BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The executive committee of the Massachusetts Man Suffrage association has sent the following reply to the request of the woman suffrage state committee for a public debate: "Your esteemed communication of the 29th inst. is at hand, and in reply we desire to say that in our opinion it would be impossible in the four days remaining before election suitably to arrange the details for such a discussion as you propose. Indeed, we doubt whether, in any event, this would prove any material addition to the arguments which have been and are being advanced on both sides in the columns of the daily and weekly press throughout the state."

WILL FIGHTERS MEET?

Governor Clarke Countermands His Order Concerning Militia.

Fitzsimmons' Party Arrested on Railroad Train.

Matters Will Probably Come to a Climax at Little Rock Today.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 31.—Governor Clarke yesterday afternoon countermanded his order sending the militia to Hot Springs.

GOVERNOR CLARKE.

This was because Attorney General Kinsworthy telephoned the governor from Hot Springs to the effect that Corbett would be tried before a justice of the peace in Hot Springs, and, after that, has consented to come to Little Rock for trial before Chancellor Martin.

Sheriff Dillard and deputies of Mills county, who left Texarkana on the Iron Mountain Cannon Ball yesterday afternoon, succeeded in Bagging the Pugilists.

Fitzsimmons and his trainer were arrested by them and taken off their train at Fulton. A special train was telegraphed for to bring the officers and pugilists back to Texarkana. They arrived here about 7:15 o'clock, and the sheriff, with his deputies, with Fitzsimmons and Julian under arrest, left Texarkana at 7:35 last night, via the Cotton Belt railroad, for Little Rock. They took this route to avoid any trouble that might arise at Malvern if the Iron Mountain route was used.

Sheriff Houpt of Hot Springs, who sought to carry Fitzsimmons and Julian through to that city, under the guise of arrest, was lost in the scuffle when he disputed Sheriff Dillard's authority. The latter arrested him on the Iron Mountain train, but when the crowd got off at Fulton, Houpt remained aboard, but got off at Hope, the next station above, where he telegraphed Dillard that he was not trying to get away and would come back on the first train and give himself up.

Sheriff Dillard has been assisted by the deputy sheriff of Little Rock, and every move has been made according to written instructions from Governor Clarke. The governor ordered Sheriff Dillard and Deputy Heard to get a big posse of men to take Fitzsimmons at all hazards and at any cost and produce him before Judge Martin at Little Rock as soon as possible after arresting him.

Kinsworthy's Move.

Attorney General Kinsworthy appeared before Justice of the Peace Rapley last evening, and moved that the warrants issued several days ago for the arrest of Corbett and his party be recalled.

City Attorney Martin, who with Mayor Waters constituted the citizens' committee which went to Dallas and secured the removal of the headquarters of the Florida Athletic club to this city, appeared in the interest of those who were trying to have the contest pulled off here, and upon the showing by him Justice Rapley denied the motion.

The purpose of Attorney General Kinsworthy, who represented Governor Clarke in this section, was to have the Corbett party released from the custody of the Garland county officers, in order that they might be removed to Little Rock, after being arrested under the warrants issued by Judge Martin of that city and placed in the hands of Sheriff Houpt's deputies.

The plan of the fight people seems to have been to keep Corbett and his party under the jurisdiction of Justice Rapley and out of the hands of the state officers as long as there was a chance for Fitzsimmons to reach this city on schedule time. When this vanished, there was no longer a possibility of an encounter between the two heavyweights within the next 24 hours, and they evidently thought it advisable to let the governor have his own way for a while longer and bide their time.

A Talk With Fitz.

A newspaper correspondent interrogated Fitzsimmons and Julian at Texarkana. Both said they were ready for the fight, but could not say when or where it could take place, as they were under arrest. Both denounced Corbett and the Florida Athletic club for doing everything in their power to prevent and stave off the fight to a later day. Fitzsimmons said he was in fine trim and felt confident of easily knocking out Corbett. He had trained continuously and was never in finer form. He and Julian will claim the $2500 forfeit if they can get through to Hot Springs. Both appeared in good humor, although under arrest, and said it was useless to fret over such a thing, as it was unavoidable on their part. The trial of their cases under warrant issued by Chancery Judge Martin at Little Rock will be held today.

All of Fitzsimmons' baggage, with the exception of his personal belongings, came through to this city last night, as did an enormous tent which is to be used for the fight. The members of the Hot Springs Athletic club are in no way cast down by this last blow to the chances, and reiterated their belief that the fight will eventually be pulled off.

To add to the present mystery, Corbett has disappeared from his training quarters. It is reported that he is en route for Little Rock to answer charges preferred against him by the Pulaski county authorities.

Connecticut's Contingent All Right.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—In his report to the secretary of the naval militia of Connecticut, Lieutenant Niblack, who inspected them during their tour last August, says the state has dealt most liberally with the organization. The equipment, uniforms and signaling apparatus are of the best. The artillery drill was a model of excellence, and the signaling, infantry and police duty were good features.

Demands Granted.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Belfast and Glasgow shipbuilders have conceded the demands of their employes for an increase of 5 per cent in their wages. The increase is to go into effect on Feb. 1.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 31.—Owing to the prosecution of the bank directors and smugglers special terms of the supreme court will be needed. The trials of eight of the smugglers' cases are of such a character as to require that they shall be heard before juries. The crown prosecutor admits that there is little prospect of the juries convicting for this offense.

A Dry Region.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—The reservoirs along the line of the Pennsylvania railroad between this city and Pittsburg are without water, and the supply for the operation of the road is kept up only by the daily running of a dozen water trains.

THE VENEZUELAN ROW

Concessions to Americans Not Within British Sphere of Influence.

"Frontier Outrage" a Purely Individual Act.

Governor of British Guiana Gives Views on a Much Discussed Matter.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 31. — Governor Sir Charles Lees of British Guiana arrived here at midnight, having been recalled to England to confer with Colonial Secretary Chamberlain on the Venezuelan boundary question.

The governor was asked if any difficulty was likely to arise out of the concessions made to American capitalists by Venezuela. He said: "No concessions have been made within the British sphere of influence, and therefore no difficulty is likely to arise.

"I have no idea that there will be any serious resistance to the British demands growing out of the Uruan incident, as the Venezuelan government seems desirous of doing everything possible to repair any injury done to British subjects."

"I regard the frontier outrage (the so-called Uruan incident) as a purely individual act, as the British subjects, Barnes and Baker, who were arrested by the Venezuelan officer, when brought before the higher representatives of the Venezuelan government, were asked by them to return to the British territory. But they declined on the ground that there were no means of transit back."

The Uruan incident referred to by Mr. Lees was that upon which the reported British ultimatum to Venezuela was based. A British sergeant of police (the Barnes above referred to) and two assistants crossed the river at Uruan and planted the British flag on the Venezuelan side. The Venezuelan police tore down the flag, drove the intruders across the stream and subsequently arrested them. While on their way to Ciudad Bolivar with their prisoners they were instructed from Caracas to release the Englishmen and to permit them to return to British Guiana. The British government demands

Reparation For These Arrests.

Mr. Lees was asked further to explain the action of the Guiana high council in voting its disapproval of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's suggestion for the purchase of maxim guns to be taken to the Venezuelan frontier. Sir Charles said: "With regard to this vote, the matter was purely an imperial one. There is only a post, consisting of seven men at Uruan, being merely a police station to mark the frontier on the Schomburgk boundary line, and there is practically no military station there, although the colonial government has repeatedly asked the imperial government for a supply of maxim guns.

"The Venezuelan party, when they crossed the river at Uruan, hoisted their flag upon a building within the Schomburgk boundary. Sergeants Barnes and Baker hauled it down merely to show that it was within the British lines, although the colonial government would be delighted to welcome squatters to that territory, and only desired to show that it was British territory."

He was asked if he thought that any serious affair would occur in the event of a crisis, to which he replied: "I think not, as there is only a very small police station on the Venezuelan frontier. The Venezuelans tried their utmost to persuade Barnes and Baker to return to British territory after they had been arrested."

Sir Charles came home principally to recruit his health, and although some matters of private business will also receive his attention, he will see Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, as soon as possible.

Swallowed Aconite.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Dr. W. S. Miller, 49 years old, an attache of the New System Dental parlors, 2 Union square, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by swallowing four ounces of aconite. It was said by persons in the house that Dr. Miller was known as a hard drinker. It was said that on several recent occasions he had been called on by a young woman, and that after these calls his sprees were of a harder and longer nature than usual.

Put Out of the Way.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Dr. Orlando Bradford, the counterfeiter, was yesterday sentenced to six years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. Michael Manning and Frank Carr were given similar sentences. Bad For Bulls.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—The Philadelphia stock market had the liveliest shake-up yesterday experienced since the Reading railroad collapsed, nearly three years ago. The Philadelphia "Kaffirs," as they have been called, went all to pieces, one stock, Electric Storage, breaking $18 a share in two hours.

Against Locals.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. — The supreme court has sustained the decision of Judge Beach in the official ballot case. This forbids the state Democracy from having a list of state candidates printed in the column with its local nominees, under the emblem of a rooster, the state Democracy having held no state convention. The effect of the decision will be to put the state Democracy's local ticket entirely by itself and to deprive the candidates of whatever advantage might accrue through their names appearing in conjunction with the regular Democracy's state ticket.

"May Excite Enthusiasm Among Riff-Raff."

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The few comments made by the London press upon the war prophecy of Senator Chandler in his paper on Oct. 28 may be generally regarded as summed up by The Standard in the following utterance: Senator Chandler may excite enthusiasm among the riff-raff of the great towns, but his prophecy, we may be assured, will be received with indignation and disgust by the great bulk of the people of the United States.

Armenian Affairs.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31.—The sultan declines to accept the names which the grand vizier has suggested for the Armenian commission. He wishes to have men who are in his own confidence. The massacre at Marash has ceased, and the missionaries are safe. A demand has been made to the British embassy and to the American legation that relief operations at Sassoon shall cease.

DURRANT WAS COOL

While Everybody Else in the Courtroom Was Fairly Thrilled.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—District Attorney Barnes yesterday appeared as the high central figure in the last scene of the trial of Theodore Durrant. He delivered what is considered in many respects one of the strongest arguments ever made to a California jury. Aside from being logical and convincing in his discussion of the testimony, he made two or three dramatic by-plays that put a severe test to the iron nerves of the prisoner.

While looking intently at the frame bearing Miss Lamont's dress, which stood near the jury box, and telling how through the long days of the trial he had seen the young schoolgirl clothed in all her innocence and purity, Mr. Barnes reached the climax of the scene. Turning upon Durrant, who was seated only three feet away, the district attorney, with clinched fists and in a voice of thunder exclaimed: "I see her now. There she stands behind him at this very moment, not praying for vengeance for her deep and remediless wrongs, not for the law's retribution upon her murderer, but with uplifted hand and streaming eyes, praying that God will not put it into your hearts, by the mockery of a verdict of not guilty, to set free this monster to prey upon other souls, pollute with vile hands the unsunned snow of other children and defy anew that God of justice whose ministers you are!"

While everybody else was thrilled with the impressiveness of the scene, Durrant sat stolid and indifferent. As the district attorney's last words were uttered, the prisoner whispered something in the ear of his mother, who sat near him, and smiled as if pleased at the wit of his own remark.

The district attorney will close his argument today, when the jury will be charged and the fate of Durrant will be placed in their keeping.
